ALIENISTS SOON TO
PASS OUT OF THE CHICAGO DRAMAChicago, Aug. 19. (INS.)—"If
the court don't hang them we will.—K. K. K."This cryptic warning, propped up against a gruesome skull and bones was found by the police last night on the veranda of Frank Harris' home, in Ellis avenue, just across the street from the handsome home of the family of Richard A. Loeb, now on trial with Nathan Leopold for murdering Bobby Franks.The skull and bones were not paper mache—they were real.
The symbol consisted of a leering human skull, a pair of bleached arm bones and a leg.
Police removed the ghastly symbols, which they said probably had been secured from some medical college.By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)Chicago, Aug. 19.—The final rounds in the battle of the alienists over the mental condition of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, were fought out in Judge J. R. Caverly's court today.The jurist was forced to act as third man in the legal ring and figuratively separate the combatants, so hot in the cross-examination through which the Leopold-Loeb lawyers are putting the last doctor for the state, Dr. William
O. Krohn.Perhaps late today, but more likely tomorrow, the long ending this three weeks' old fight of alienists will ring.
Then, unless the defense decides to put on a few more witnesses in mitigation, both sides probably will rest and there will begin nearly a week of oratory. The state's lawyers will demand the noose for the young slayers of Bobby Franks; the defense attorneys will plead the judicial mercy and a life sentence.Mrs. Bowman Brown entertained at bridge Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Lloyd McDowell, who left yesterday for her new home at Reading,

Seriously Damaged In
An Attempted GetawayReykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 18.—The
two American army round-the-world fliers attempted this morning to take off on the long North Atlantic hop to Fredericksdal, near Cape Farewell,
East Greenland, and in doing so both planes were injured in perhaps the most serious mishap so far of the globe-encircling trip.One of the planes broke its spreading propeller.It is anticipated that the mishap will delay the fliers some days as the cruiser Richmond, which is bringing all the spare parts for the planes, will not arrive here until Wednesday morning. It is hoped the repairs may be completed the same day.The accidents today were attributed to the fact that the planes were carrying the heaviest loads of petrol that have been attempted since the start of the flight. Although the sea was dead calm the machines were unable to leave the water.

Reykjavik, Iceland Aug. 19. (INS.)

Repairs will be made tomorrow upon the damaged airplanes of Lieutenants
Lowell Smith and Erik Nelson, United States army, round-the-world aviators, who hope to be able to hop off for Cap Farewell, Greenland, Thursday morning. Spare parts will be brought here upon the U. S. cruiser Richmond, due tomorrow.Because Angmagssalik was diminished as the next stopping place the planes were loaded with an extra supply of gasoline to last them on their flight to the southern extremity of Greenland. This extreme weight caused the accidents.The machines will be strengthened to bear the extra burden.Lieut. Locatelli, Italian distance flyer, expects to accompany the Americans to Greenland.

SMITH-SHAW

G. Bowman Smith, of LeContes Mills and Miss Effie J. Shaw of Clearfield were married at the Presbyterian manse, Monday morning, August 19th, 1924, by Dr. E. C. Reeve, and quietly left for points of interest in Canada. Subsequent to their return they will make their home in Clearfield.BRYAN IS NOTIFIED OF HIS SELECTION
BY DEMOCRATS

By THOMAS R. CURRAN

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 19.—Governor

Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, Democratic vice presidential nominee,
was in conference today with Cram Shaver, national chairman, engaged in drawing up his speaking itinerary, which is expected to include all of the states of the Middle West.Before a crowd that filled the huge University of Nebraska stadium, Governor Bryan last night received and formally accepted the nomination of his party as candidate for vice president.Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, tendered the nomination to the Nebraska governor. The dominant motif of Harrison's speech was that the Democratic party represents the only hope of the government element in America."The farmer needs an export marketing corporation or combination,"
was the way Bryan put it, "so that his small surplus product which is sold in the markets abroad will not establish the price of the whole crop he produces."That the Defense Day issue, which he himself raised, will be heard from
in his ensuing speeches, was indicated in his statement:"War propaganda, and mobilization demonstrations of the civil and industrial resources of the country when we are at peace with the world unnecessarily inflame the mind of the American youth."His treatment of the world court and League of Nations questions will be, it was indicated, much more summary than that of his running mate, John W. Davis."The only hope of the world is found in the substitution of machinery for peace in place of machinery for war," was his brief reference to these topics.Dawes To Be Told Tonight
Of His Nomination For The Vice PresidencyChicago, Aug. 19. (INS.)—Banners and bunting bloomed from nearly every house and tree in Evanston today as that exclusive suburb planned for the influx of 100,000 visitors. They will be seated on the platform on the smooth lawn and standing in the amplified audience fringing his magnificent estate tonight when Charles Gates Dawes is notified that he has been selected as the Republican vice presidential candidate.

JOINED 40 AND 8

A delegation of local Legionnaires, consisting of M. D. Robinson, Louis Abramo, Walter E. Legal, Lex McCloskey, "Sailor" Keenan, Joe Sansone, Guy Cowdrie and Sol Robinson went over to DuBois last night and the former seven were initiated into the rib-ald mysteries of the "40 and 8," a world war organization with a "real punch."Sol Robinson vouched for the class, all of which are but one jump from the hospital today.

this side of Wallacetown early this the cow passed out.

CELEBRATES 82D BIRTHDAY

Thomas Johnstonbaugh, Civil war veteran, and one of the oldest residents of the Fourth Ward, celebrated his 82d birthday anniversary at his home on Daisy street yesterday. His daughters, Mrs. L. M. Frost and Miss Lillian, of New York; Miss Mame and these Clearfield people enjoyed the splendid birthday dinner. Mrs. Rachel Dobson, Miss Nellie Dobson, William

AT GREENSBURG FOR LEGION CONVENTIONPittsburgh, Aug. 19. (INS.)—Ten thousand delegates and visitors are expected at the annual Pennsylvania American Legion Convention opening at Greensburg Thursday morning. J.
Leo Collins, State Commander said today.Collins has just returned from State Headquarters at Philadelphia and Greensburg and said all arrangements have been completed for the largest Legion gathering yet held in this State.The keynote of the convention is expected to be plans for the care of disabled soldiers, and development of additional hospitals for rehabilitation work. The "Woman's Auxiliary" of the Legion will also meet at Greensburg, this organization's convention opening tomorrow.ROBERT A. KILGORE formation for the American Legion

GREENSBURGEvery Loyal Clearfielder now has the opportunity of helping to advertise Clearfield and at the same time show their appreciation to the Clearfield American Legion Band, for the splendid music they have given us the past year. The band is a community asset and the fact that they have made such an enviable reputation means much to Clearfield. Their Thursday night concerts have entertained many and have been given without a cent of charge to any who attend.Tomorrow night the band will play their Greensburg Concert at the Driving Park, and to help defray their expenses to Greensburg are charging fifty cents. The concert at Reading last year was heard by 12,000 people.
The Greensburg Concert is better and
worth more than the admission asked.
Get your tag and show others you are helping.It doesn't seem exactly fair that we should allow the American Legion Post, which organized and maintained the band, for quite a long time, to pay their expenses to Greensburg when the whole community reaps the benefit.After the concert, the Legion boys have arranged a dance for old and young. Every other number played during this dance will be an old-time dance. They have arranged this for the older people of the town and we cannot disappoint them.

TWINS SETTLE

FAMILY DISPUTE
OVER POLITICS

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 19. (INS.)

After an argument which threatened to disrupt family peace, the stock settled matters for Arthur Doll's family. Mrs.
Doll, an ardent Republican insisted that their expected child would be named after President Coolidge while the husband equally favored naming him for John W. Davis. When the stock left, the family doctor said "its twin boys" and each will be named after the respective Republican and Democratic candidates.FOUR OF NATION'S MOST PROMINENT MEN BROT TOGETHER

By GEORGE E. TURNO

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Plymouth, Vermont, Aug. 19.—Vacation paths were to cross today in this little New England hamlet and bring together for a few hours four of the nation's most prominent men.President Coolidge, seeking rest here in the home of his father, arranged to entertain three others—Thomas A. Edison, the electrical wizard; Henry Ford, motor manufacturer, and Harvey Firestone, rubber manufacturer.Edison, Ford and Firestone are embarking upon their annual "camping trip," which in late years has attracted much attention. Their route has brought them to Plymouth. After a stop of a few hours they intend to continue to the Canadian woods.'Marriage Without Love' Failed; Mrs. Cooley's
Reason For SkippingPittsburgh, Aug. 19.—The "mystery" of the disappearance of Alicia John Cooley, McKeesport "mystery wife" who deserted her husband on a few days on their honeymoon in an Erie hotel July 28, is solved.Mrs. Cooley decided that she didn't love her husband, obtained a "lucrative position" for herself, and is on her way to take it.Both her deserted husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tobin, of Huey street, McKeesport, received letters from her yesterday in which she tells them that "marriage without love is impossible" and begs them
to "call off the police."The mystery surrounding Mrs.
Cooley's disappearance was solved yesterday when Cooley and Tobin each received letters from Meadville signed by the bride and daughter stating that she would never again live with Cooley.Mrs. Cooley requested that police authorities of Western Pennsylvania who have been conducting a vigilante search for her be "called off" as she is well and happy. The police will be asked to discontinue their search. It was said, but the private search for
Mrs. Cooley will be continued.Since the bride disappeared from an Erie hotel on July 29 private detectives and relatives aided by police authorities have investigated a score of theories concerning her whereabouts.

CLARION DAM OPENING AUG. 25

The opening of the big new Piney Hydro-Electric Plant, the first development of the Hydro-Electric project on the Clarion river, will be held at Clarion on Monday, August 25th, 1924.The Penn Public Service Company, one of the public utility concerns interested in the big project, are inviting a number of their friends and patrons from this section to attend this opening, which will be quite a feature and well worth attending.

SENSE—MILLER

On Saturday, Aug. 16th, 1924 at 10:30 a. m. the Presbyterian Church was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when Miss Dorothy Belle Miller became the bride of Mr.
Lee Sencer. Dr. E. C. Reeve performed the ceremony.Miss Gertrude Miller, of Punxsutawney, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Kenneth Sencer, brother of the groom, was groom-smen. Only the immediate families and close friends attended the wedding.The bride was charming in her gown of brown crepe-back satin with hat and shoes to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of sunburst crepe. She also wore roses.Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on the noon train on a trip following which they will reside in Clearfield.Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fontenoy and family, drove up from their home at Karthus today and shopped in our stores.Pinchot Takes Safe And Sane View Of Naming
Sept. 12th Defense DayHarrisburg, Pa., Aug. 19. (INS.)—
Making no mention of the civilian phase of National Defense Day, Gov.
Pinchot in a letter to Dr. Paul M.
Pearson, Director of Swarthmore
Chautauqua Association, today endorsed the plan to mobilize the United States for a day."There are two things about war," the letter says. "One is to prevent it from coming. The other is to be ready for it if unhappily it should come.""I believe in outlawing war, and in seeking by every means of public education and governmental action to bring that great and most desirable result about.""But war has not yet been outlawed.
It is still not only legal but one of the most stubborn of all facts. While that remains true it would be worse than folly for America to be wholly unprepared."Paralleling war to disease, the Governor points out that "we do not neglect to take precautions against disease just because we abhor it.""Defense Day," the letter concludes
"is part of our preparation against war.""We hate war and we prepare against
it. Why shouldn't we observe Sept.
12th as a day on which to make known to the people of the whole world that we love peace and hate war?"No mention is made in the letter of enlisting civilians for a day. Orders have already been issued by the Governor for the National Guard to assemble on that day.A RALLY DAY IN POMONA-GRANGE
IN THIS COUNTYClearfield County Pomona Grange met at Troutville on August 14, and were royally entertained by Brady Grange of that place. The forenoon meeting opened at 10:30 in the fifth degree, with a brief business session.S. F. Lott of Brady Grange extended a cordial welcome to the visiting members of Pomona, while A. O.
Bilger, of Susquehanna Grange, responded.Report of subordinate granges were read and showed an increase in membership.The Deputies made reports and urged that more interest and effort be put into the work. Also Booster meetings are being planned for in some localities.E. H. Hannon, Secretary of the Fire Insurance Company, reported for said company, showing it to be in excellent financial condition and carrying at present over $2,500,000 in assets.After the naming of committees
by the Master, adjourned for dinner and all repaired to the dining hall where all partook of a fine dinner prepared by the worthy sisters of the Brady Grange.It was so decided, that the afternoon and evening sessions be open to the public.Hon. P. H. Dewey, lecturer of Pennsylvania State Grange was introduced by State Deputy G. B.
Wachob, who was the main speaker for the day, delivered messages that were filled with inspiration and good counsel. He talked briefly on the importance of farmers carrying compensation, causality, automobile insurance.Other addresses were listened to
from M. I. McCright of DuBois, Hon.
Peter Gearhart and D. H. Watts.
"History of the Grange in Clearfield County," was presented by E. M.
Davis, he being one of the three surviving Charter Members of Pomona Grange.At 7:30 the members of Pomona formed in parade headed by the Troutville Cornet Band was a pleasing feature of the day.In the evening, members of Brady Grange entertained the large crowd of over 400 with a splendid program consisting of monologues, comic recitations, instrumental music, and a dialogue closed the entertainment.A class of fifty candidates were initiated in the fifth degree.COUNCIL TRANSACTS MUCH BUSINESS AT EVENING SESSIONThe regular semi-monthly meeting of Borough Council held in the Council chamber last evening was participated in by nine of the twelve members of Council, with President Rosser at the helm.Considerable business was transacted while reports were made as to the progress of the new construction work under way throughout the borough, which consists of the big Market street storm water sewer, street and alley paving.Assess Paving Costs.
Ordinance providing for the setting of curb and gutter and the paving of Cherry street were passed. According to the figures contained in the paving ordinance the paving of the block from Second to Third street cost $3,254.71 exclusive of the curb and gutters. Of this cost the borough assumes one-third or $1,084.00 and the remaining $2,169.71, is assessed against the property owners at a cost of $2.71 per front foot.The curb and gutter cost 91 cents per front foot additional or a total cost of paving to each property owner, where curbs had not been set previously, of $3.82 per front foot.Extend Clearfield Street Sewer.
The ordinance providing for the extending the sanitary sewer on Clearfield Street from West Fifth avenue to West Seventh avenue was presented and unanimously passed and work on same will soon be under way.Want To Be Annexed.
A petition containing the names of 20 property owners, including the Herbison-Walker Company and Robinson Clay Products Company, was presented to Council, asking that the block extending from the corner of Fourth Street to where Woodland Road intersects Daisy street, be annexed to the borough. It is the opinion of Council that the entire stretch of

KERR ADDITION FIRE

The frame dwelling of Harry H.
Zeigler, of Kerr Addition, one of the extra help at the post office, was today destroyed by fire which had been covered about 1 o'clock this morning.
Mr. Zeigler and his family had been living in a tent on his lot for some time and had only recently moved into their newly completed home.The loss will amount to a couple of thousand dollars and is a severe blow to Mr. Zeigler. There is no fire protection in Kerr Addition, and as it is across the river and out of reach of the local firemen, the fire quickly got away from the efforts of the neighbors to extinguish it.

Atlantis is a continent mentioned in Plato's history,
and extended across the Atlantic Ocean approximately from Europe to Yucatan. It is the subject of an exhaustive volume by Ignatius Donnelly and has also served as inspiration for several novelists. This continent, it is believed, was the home of a great race which conquered and civilized the world. The Azore Islands are considered to be the tops of its lofty mountains, and are all that now remains above water of the great country.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. B. C.

More than 7,000,000 new voters, who have become of age since 1920, will be eligible to vote for the first time for President in 1924, according to the statistical report of Simon Michelet, Washington lawyer and political writer.

If those 7,000,000 are added to the war veterans and young men from the farms, who in 1920 were old enough to vote but had not yet established legal residence in their new city locations, there will be at least 8,000,000 potential first-time presidential voters in this campaign.

The basis for this estimate is the census of 1920, which shows 7,376,255 young men and women who at that time were, respectively, 17, 18, 19 and 20 years of age, and today, if living, are potential voters.

Some of these, it is true, may be foreign-born and not yet naturalized, but there is an offset for these in something like 600,000 foreign-born naturalized since 1923, who this year cast their first presidential vote. After all deductions are made on several counts, it is believed that the total number of new presidential voters will exceed rather than fall below the 7,376,000 shown by the census.

There has been a large colored movement from the South to the industrial districts of the North during the last four years, so that many colored voters will cast their first ballots this year in the north, where they will not be subjected to the strict literary tests of the Southern states.

The power of the new voters in pivotal states is a live subject. Indiana has nearly 200,000 young voters this year, while in the normal campaign years 1916 and 1920 the plurality of the successful presidential candidate was only 6,942 and 10,700 respectively.

Ohio has 374,000 new voters, about four times the average Ohio plurality; in fact, five times that of President Taft and President McKinley.

In New York the presidential margin averages around 150,000, although Grover Cleveland carried it over Blaine by only 1,000. New York has 660,000 young voters coming for the ballot, if they accept their sovereign privilege this year.

Massachusetts has not quite so large a crop of new presidential voters; and yet 239,000 margin would probably satisfy President Coolidge or either of his opponents in Bay State this year.

Pennsylvania frequently shows a presidential plurality of around 200,000. Just two-fifths of the 577,000 young presidential voters of that state make that plurality.

Illinois has 428,000 young voters, who, should they decide to vote en bloc, would overthrow even the 200,000 plurality which that state delivered at the polls.

Among the states of the Middle West, the young voters of 1924 show totals, as follows: Michigan, 235,000; Wisconsin, 184,000; Minnesota, 172,000; Iowa, 169,000; Nebraska, 94,000; the Dakotas, 46,000 each; Kansas, 127,000, and Missouri, 238,000.

These are states in which the third party movement is active. There are enough new voters in most of them to decide the issue. Will they be caught by the new propaganda for which the American institutions are a better cause for their ballot than some of the institutions advocated in political meetings?

California has 200,000 new presidential voters and Texas 282,000.

One of the interesting questions is: How many of the 2,500,000 new presidential voters of 16 southern states will actually vote? If 50 per cent of them voted they could change the political complexion even of the "solid" south.

The aggregate of 2,500,000 for the 16 states of the Middle West is particularly interesting study. What is the mind of young America in this national contest? Is the American Constitution good enough? That is one of the questions that will be answered November 4.

In addition to the 7,300,000 young voters, the stay-at-home army of 1920 is also to be heard from. So the national campaign in the 1924 campaign is not an unknown quantity as them voted they could change the history of the country has never known.

VICE PRESIDENT OF TRUST CO.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Clearfield Trust Company yesterday morning, P. T. Davis was elected vice president. The election of Mr. Davis resulted from the creation of a new office in the Clearfield Trust Company and Mr. Davis' new title will be vice president and treasurer.

W. H. McKee, who has been very ill with lumbago for the past ten days, is slowly improving.

Why It Will Pay You To Trade In Clearfield

LADIES' BAZAAR

Since this business started in 1917, our constant keeping in touch with the designers who are right up to the minute with the new things coming from Paris and Vienna, has brought the volume up to a point where we are a great factor in the women's wear in this entire section.

And, by knowing these things we are enabled to give the women of this city and vicinity better things to wear at prices that are distinctly lower than most stores in this vicinity.

The head of this business, a practical designer of women's clothing, is in constant touch with the style trends. This enables us to offer you the new things first and at a lower price than ordinary stores.

We specialize in wedding outfits, christening outfits and especially do we cater to the stout woman who finds it hard to get ready made clothing in which she looks her best.

"How can I help?" There is one sure way—spend your money with Clearfield concerns; do not let a dollar leave Clearfield that will purchase what you want from local concerns.

Does the average person realize what a calamity it would be were the Clearfield merchants to close their doors? It is to them largely that we owe the success of our city. What would Clearfield be today without her big, loyal and liberal merchants? About the only difference in the so-called dead town and a live town, is the amount of work done on community problems. The live town advertises itself to the nation by the things it accomplishes while the so-called dead town slumbers peacefully on and is not heard from.

Show your patriotism—for it is indeed a patriotic duty, this building of a better community spirit and as a consequence, a larger and more wholesome city. Be loyal to yourself and to your community. Be loyal to every enterprise in Clearfield. Your money spent with Clearfield merchants will help very materially to keep our city to the forefront as a commercial center. It will help to enlarge our prospects for a bigger and finer city.

A great new railroad system seems to be developing. But not really new. It is merely a new grouping of existing lines the Nickel Plate, Erie and others, with a total mileage of 1000 or more.

It is an interesting development in two respects. For one thing, it is evidence of a fresh, vital movement in American railroading, after a long period of quiescence. For another, it demonstrates a new railroad policy on the part of the government.

Not long ago, such a merger would have been fought in the courts as a combination in restraint of trade, and its dissolution would probably have been ordered. Now it is being effected under the explicit terms of the transportation act and with the consent and co-operation of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The government now encourages the consolidation of many small, weak railroad systems into a few large groups.

The old idea was universal competition, every railroad, large or small, fighting every other. The new idea is partial competition, with a few big systems competing with each other and the government standing over them to insure fair play to each other and to the public.

This is a compromise between competition and public control. Any lessening of competition in such a public utility is only tolerable, of course, with a proper measure of public control. It may be that the compromise is destined to lead gradually to complete abolishment of competition among the railroads, and their operation as one great system under the supervision of the government. That was tried in war time, and was not popular, but the trend seems in that direction.

THE UNIVERSAL BOB

Bobbed hair is the great leveller. It recognizes neither class nor age. The other day three generations of a family in Washington, D. C., had their hair bobbed. The abbreviating process started with the twenty-year-old daughter, continued with the fifty-year-old mother and ended with the eighty-year-old grandmother. It only stopped there because there wasn't any great-grandmother to shear.

Youth, as usual, protested against such radicalism on the part of age. But the grandmother insisted that she had just as good a right to be "comfortable" as her daughter and granddaughter, which was no more than the truth.

It does make confusion, in a way—this short hair, in combination with short skirts, regardless of age. Present styles abolish age in women. But what does it matter? A woman is as old as she feels, and occasional excess of youthful restoration is better than piling on exaggerated dignity.

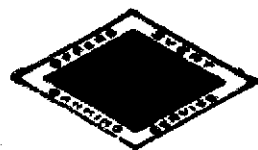

Moreover, any woman of 70 or 80 should be proud of bobbed hair, if for no other reason than that it shows she has the hair to bob. There is no deception about that style of hair-dressing.

IT'S ODD, BUT TRUE!

While merchants and professional people like to receive cash in currency and silver for their goods, while they welcome the "charge customer" who comes in on payday and settles up with dollars and treasury notes—

They rate highest the man who pays by check.

IN TRAINING

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Plump and smiling Mrs. Goodfriend says she is in training for a mother-in-law now that Bob and Alice are fast becoming more to each other than the "good pals" they have been for a year past.

Oh yes, she admits to her most intimate correspondent, Miss Lucy, there are some pretty trying things about breezy, bob-haired Alice—the short hair isn't one of them to be sure—but then there are many good points. "If I keep my mind fixed on them I hope to come out a pretty fair mother-in-law," says Mrs. Goodfriend. She would be greatly surprised and distressed if Miss Lucy, her life-long confidant, or any one else told her she was potentially a very bad mother-in-law in one respect. That she had been preparing trouble for Bob's wife all these years since his merry blue eyes first laughed into hers.

But it's true. "Here dear, let mother do that" is one of the things you hear her say oftener when her big six-foot son is around.

Bob must have his second glass of milk and his favorite banana for breakfast if somebody has to scour the neighborhood at ten minutes notice.

Bob has never sewed on a button or washed a dish, unless maybe when he went camping and every fellow had to take his turn at "doing K. P." Bob has been waited on and catered to till it's a wonder the big jolly boy is so little spoiled. But his wife will expect the waiting on to be on the other side, if I know Alice and her type.

There will be times, too, when Bob will have to eat what is in the house if the milkman or the fruit seller fails to live up to what is expected of him or the ice gives out before it is expected to.

Of course, he and Alice will just have to learn that "give and take" is next to "bear and forbear" in the rules for newly weds. But Mrs. Goodfriend could have made it so much easier.

Use for Old Horseshoes.
At Trowbridge, England, may be seen an immense pile of old horseshoes which have been collected in small consignments from various blacksmiths. They weigh in the neighborhood of 120 tons, and sometimes the pile even exceeds this amount. These old horseshoes are particularly suitable for melting down for cutlery steel, the metal having been tempered to just the right hardness by the heat of the horses' hoofs and wear and tear of the roads.—Wide World Magazine

In the Courts

Judge Chase granted a rule returnable Monday, October 1st, on petition of Edith Long, who seeks to have determined the ownership of a strip of ground in Lawrence township which fronts 18 feet on a public road and extends back 29 rods. The land is claimed by the plaintiff under deed for 10 acres purchased from Lynn Thompson. Fred B. Ogden also claims the land and cites peaceable possession for more than 21 years.

Judge Chase decided at a habeas corpus hearing on Monday that jail was the proper place for Leonard Hollabaugh, alias James Russell, alias Harry Eock. Hollabaugh, who is said to have a wife and family in Huntingdon county, is alleged to have become intimate with a Cooper township girl of 18 living in Pittsburgh and when her parents learned of the man's actions, they had him arrested and placed in jail charged with adultery. He instituted habeas corpus proceedings in an attempt to effect his release from durance vile, but failed to score.

John Newcomer, who was arrested at Coalport, entered a plea of guilty to transporting and possessing liquor. He was given $100 fine and costs and six months in which to pay it.

Carl Arvieson, of DuBois, got a similar dose for possession and furnishing liquor.

Rex Wilson, a Decatur township boy, who forged a check, was paroled on his promise to do better in the future.

C. I. Weeks, who was in jail on a fraudulent check charge, was released at a habeas corpus hearing, when the district attorney agreed a prosecution could not be sustained.

George Ball, of Glen Hope, entered a plea of guilty to operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and transporting liquor. He was fined $100 and 10 days in jail, while an order was made directing the sheriff to sell the confiscated car.

John Dewie, of Coalport, entered a plea of guilty to making, selling and possession. He got $100 fine and costs and 4 months in jail.

Joe Kish, of Curwensville, on his plea of guilty, was fined $200 and costs and 10 days in jail for liquor law violation.

Generation of Crabs, Etc.

Crabs produce large quantities of eggs, which the female carries about with her attached to her hindmost pair of legs, until they hatch. The details vary much, of course, with the different kinds of crabs. The minute eggs (or spawn) of clams (those of salt water) are found out in early warm weather in great abundance, and at the same season the water near shore is filled with male sperm (milt). Thus by good luck a few eggs meet with the fertilizing particles. These soon "hatch" into a small larvae that swim about for a time, then settle down, acquire shells, and become baby clams, growing to full size and breeding condition in three or four years.

Sun God of Ancient Egyptians.
Owing to the prevailing solar influence, Egyptian temples, certainly in early times and often later, were oriented east and west so that the rising sun at the equinoxes might light up their dark interiors. Indeed, according to the current Egyptian conception it was the sun god before all others who dwelt in every temple, which was regarded as a small replica of heaven itself. Thus a favorite description of a temple is that it is "like heaven in its interior, while he (the sun god) rises within it"—Dr. A. M. Blackman, in Nature.

ACTION TO CHECK RADICAL ELEMENT

Steps of national dimensions to curb the activities of radical elements who use an American method to public speeches were taken by members of the American Legion at Buffalo, N. Y., recently as the outcome of a clash between members of the Legion and Proletarian party orators.

As the climax of a series of un-American speeches of radicals in Lafayette square Legion men on the eve of Flag day put to rest a Proletarian speaker, who, standing in the shadow of a monument in memory of the nation's dead defenders, was hurling philippics against the nation, the flag and all "anti-Pat" patriots.

The speaker, a Chicago man, took to his heels and sought refuge at the Proletarian headquarters. He attempted to obtain a warrant against the Legionnaire who pushed him from his soap box, but the judge refused to issue one, stating that the man did his duty.

The Legion men then made an insistent demand to city officials that an end be brought to all public speeches, "such as are being vomited by Reds in Lafayette square, and such as would incite a riot by any group of patriotic men exposed to the spleen."

Both Mayor Schwab and Commissioner Meahl agreed to revoke permits of all radical parties that have been allowed to speak in public places, such as Lafayette square.

In commenting upon the action of the Legionnaires of Buffalo in dispersing the radical meeting, Garland W. Powell, national director, American Legion, said: "The action taken by patriots in Buffalo was not an official act of the American Legion. However, I am proud to state that no red-blooded American will allow any man to slander those men who sacrificed their all in defense of their country."

In this regard, the American Legion commission of the Legion has taken steps to preclude the unpatriotic activities of organizations advocating the repeal of all sedition and criminal syndicalist laws throughout the United States. These people are also advocating "free speech" speech of the kind that allows the advocacy of the overthrow of our government by force of arms, which means the overthrow of the government which guarantees free speech.

Police Chief Zimmerman of Buffalo stated the case of "free speech" when, as a reaction to the Lafayette square affair, he said: "It is all very well to talk about free speech but when speakers overstep the bounds they have got to be muzzled, with an iron hand if necessary."

Overlooking Otter Lake, one of the prettiest of Michigan's thousand lakes, the Otter Lake Legion, which is the first regional billet, now cares for 29 children, with three houses built and ground broken for two more.

These children are of every extraction—Hungarian, Polish, French, Italian and the like. Many of them came to the billet in extremely poor health, emaciated and undernourished.

The need for more room to handle the fatherless children is manifested by the constant requests for permission to send children to the billet. A waiting list ample in size has convinced the Legionnaires that they need more space. As fast as the money is available such expansion is taking place.

The Michigan billet was first begun as an activity of the Michigan department of the Legion, with help by the legislature. However, when the national organization of a Legion went into the problem, Michigan graciously turned over her billet to the national body.

The second child billet is now under way at Indianapolis, Kans. John R. Quinn, national commander of the Legion, recently dedicated a 400-acre tract of land, where the second series of cottages will be erected. Kansas raised $100,000 to insure completion for the project by a state-wide drive for funds. The tract of land was the gift of Daniel Dabney, whose two sons were killed in action while serving with the American forces in France.

Not only does the Legion care for children in regional billets, but it also cares for them in childless families. Following precedents established by the social workers, the Legion seeks about for ex-service men who have no families and who wish to rear one of the waifs of war, and allows them to adopt one. The Legion takes exceptional care in investigating circumstances so that the child will get the tender care rightfully due.

In other instances the Legion has found that the mother does not wish to be separated from her child. In such an event the Legion furnishes cash support.

The need for such welfare work is proved when it is known that the government does not compensate a widow sufficiently to insure adequate support. A widow with no children receives but $25 a month. With one child, she gets $35, and for each additional child. As a result, it is necessary for her to work to support herself, and if her child is very young she must place it in a nursery. If the child is but a few years of age the Legion has found that it runs wild and, in many cases, the environment is such that it becomes a gamin.

The child welfare activities of the Legion are the most important, next to the care of the disabled, on the Legion's program of national service.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

REGIONAL BILLET FOR WAR ORPHANS

With the dedication recently of the American Legion's children's billet at Otter Lake, Mich., the Legion has gotten under way with a nation-wide program of child welfare. Specifically, the Legion intends to care for all the children whose fathers were killed in action or who died as a result of service in the American forces during the World war.

There are at present, according to experts, 5,000 waifs of war who are being denied childhood privileges because their fathers died in service. By the creation of regional billets the Legion intends to care for all of these. The plan outlined by the national child welfare committee of the Legion allows for expansion to meet the requirements ten years hence, when the peak load will be reached—35,000 of them.

The billet at Otter Lake, Mich., is typical of the Legion's method of handling this important phase of service work. It is neither an institution nor an orphanage. It approximates a home as far as it is humanly possible.

Instead of having one big dormitory, the way most institutions are run, the Legion has small cottages of from four to six rooms. Nine children at the most are housed in one building, where they are looked after by a house mother. The children dress as other children, with no semblance of uniformity. They attend public school, leaving in the morning, taking their lunch, and returning about five o'clock in time to play until supper time.

The Otter Lake billet, which is the first regional billet, now cares for 29 children, with three houses built and ground broken for two more. These children are of every extraction—Hungarian, Polish, French, Italian and the like. Many of them came to the billet in extremely poor health, emaciated and undernourished.

Overlooking Otter Lake, one of the prettiest of Michigan's thousand lakes, the billet is ideal for health purposes and, under the guidance of Mrs. Eva Ingersoll, supervising mother, the food prepared is based on body-building needs. Dr. O. Johnson, the superintendent, looks after the health of the children and not one case of serious illness has been reported since the billet got under way.

The need for more room to handle the fatherless children is manifested by the constant requests for permission to send children to the billet. A waiting list ample in size has convinced the Legionnaires that they need more space. As fast as the money is available such expansion is taking place.

The Michigan billet was first begun as an activity of the Michigan department of the Legion, with help by the legislature. However, when the national organization of a Legion went into the problem, Michigan graciously turned over her billet to the national body.

J. W. Sykes and family went to Lock Haven yesterday to attend the funeral of Mrs. C. E. Slifer, mother of Mrs. Sykes. The old lady whose age was 82 years, died last Friday in Washington, D. C., and the body was brought to Lock Haven for burial.

Next Sunday the members of Illini Tribe, Red Men, of this place will go to Glen Richey and listen to a sermon appropriate to their organization to be preached by Rev. Peters, a life-long member of the Order of Red Men, he having joined when there was something doing during the initiatory work.

Mrs. Frank L. Arnold went to Philadelphia yesterday where she will remain for several days and then go to Philadelphia for more than a week's visit with relatives and old time school friends.

Mrs. Joseph Whitaker who has been suffering for some weeks by swollen limbs has so far recovered as to be able to walk about a few steps at a time with some one supporting her.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams and son of Wilmington, Del., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Twigg, Sr. on Bloomingtown Ave., for the time being.

Miss Margaret Kelly, a daughter of Lavette Kelly, Bloomingtown Ave., who has been attending the Indiana Normal during the summer term, is home having finished the school course.

Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Fullerton, who resides on Bloomingtown Avenue, are off for a week's vacation trip, their many taking them to call on friends in Pittsburg and Ohio. It is not often that "Pat" takes a notion to leave his hearth and home for any length of time.

Miss Grace Barthol and Ina Twigg who spent all of last week with Mr. and Mrs. A. McNaull, State Street, returned yesterday to their respective homes in Philipsburg.

Mrs. G. F. Johnson of Philadelphia came in last evening for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. McNaull, having been brought over the mountain from Tyrone by Mr. McNaull in an auto.

Miss Mary Shearer, daughter of John Shearer, Susquehanna Ave., who went to California last April arrived at her home on Sunday evening. Having secured a position she will remain in Curwensville for some time at least.

Rev. C. E. Boone has been engaged to conduct a series of evangelical services in the Locust Ridge school house. His first meeting was held on Sunday evening and was attended by a large crowd of people from near that section.

The Yellow Dog meeting at the Park promises to be the captain of all the meetings yet held since the organization of that body. If all the applicants for membership are present the number will reach several hundred. At this meeting it will be determined whether it is advisable for having a big street parade. On Wednesday evening a pack of Curwensville hounds will cross the mountains and round up a batch of mongrels who are running at large on the streets and byways of that city of the ninth class.

The B. R. & P. Railroad Company has removed their freight office from the "hog hole" down in the swamp to a small building adjacent to the passenger station, adjusting the business so that the station agent can take care of both passenger and freight. The change is one that will be approved by the patrons of that road.

Henry Heitzenrath and family were out Narrows Creek way Sunday assisting in the celebration of his oldest sister's birthday. Not a few members of the connection were also there and partook of a generous luncheon, in consequence of which Henry was quite dozy yesterday. Not being a preacher he ate too much chicken.

A hearing has been arranged for Monday, August 25th to determine the ownership of a portion of the old pike known as the Cream Hill turnpike. The supervisors allege that the road does not belong to either Pike or Bloom township highway systems, but is owned by the county by purchase from parties who controlled and collected toll on that strip of road for years. The supervisors on this allegation have refused for several years to work the road or make any repairs, hence the highway has become in such a condition that people and taxpayers along the route have become

Whenever the human mind and enterprise conquer a new fact, the text can follow closely in the rear to give that fact a name. In case of the motor, as known to mechanical engineering the word already existed. It was merely applied to the new fact. "Motor" is a derivative of the Latin verb "moveo," to move. Its application to an engine operated by electricity, or by gasolene, to make a car or a train, or a boat move is logical. Back of this application however, is the use of the word "motor" to designate the person the power, or the thing that makes objects to move, whether it is a man, a current of water, a jet of steam—in short the prime mover that makes machinery "go."

VARICOSE VEINS ARE QUICKLY REDUCED

No sensible person will continue to suffer from dangerous swollen veins or bunches when the new powerful, yet harmless germicide called Emerald Oil can readily be obtained at any well stocked drug store.

Ask for a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse substitutes. Use as directed and in a few days improvement will be noticed, then continue until the swollen veins are reduced to normal. It is guaranteed and is so powerful that it also reduces enlarged glands, goiters and wens.

A Fish Story

A couple of city chaps summering in the mountains overheard sufficient fish stories to stir them to the desire to emulate the native anglers. Not having equipment they persuaded the village storekeeper to lend them some of his own personal outfit with the understanding that any parts lost or broken would be paid for or replaced. They had been out on the lake in a boat about half an hour when one of them inquired of the other: "What do you suppose Extra Hawkins calls that red-and-blue thing that floats around on the water?" "Why, I believe he calls it a float or a floater or a bob or something of that nature. What made you ask such a question?" "Well, we'll have to buy one of those. The darn thing has sunk."—Everybody's Magazine.

Music as a Cello Cure.
If the baby cries in the middle of the night, don't pick it up and start walking the floor. Simply have a record handy and start the phonograph. A young father in New York recently was waiting the floor with his four-months old daughter, who had the colic and didn't care who knew it. His next-door neighbor was awakened and to drown the noise started his phonograph. The baby heard the music and stopped crying. The father then started his own machine to try for not but this had no effect. It substituted a mournful record and it worked like magic. The baby, bored off with a cheery smile on its features. He now recommends classical music as a cello cure.

They Learn by Reading.
It is true that there are no better ways to learn anything than by reading. In teaching what we know of a subject to others. In distant Liberia, a school in western Africa, the school has adopted the same plan. Just as soon as any student has mastered the rudiments of old class he begins imparting his knowledge to others. In fact, he is taught mostly by those who have just finished the class above him. Although this system has its disadvantages, according to American standards, it certainly helps the young teachers themselves, as regulation instructors are not easily obtained. So eager are the children for instruction that many of them walk eight miles to a school through swamps and over poor roads.

THE SWARTHMORE TRIO Giving A Fine Concert

Is there anybody who would not like to attend a program of the most delightful vocal music—a beautiful solo, maybe, or a pleasant duet? Such is the program rendered by the Swarthmore Trio on the second afternoon of the coming Chautauqua program. Few organizations combine in themselves as much artistic talent as is found in this company. Few programs offer such snap, such originality, such a varied and ever-changing succession of melody and entertainment.

The members of this company have been chosen among those who have made conspicuous success during past seasons with the Swarthmore Chautauques, and are certain to be of the calibre to make the music of the second day of the coming Chautauqua not only acceptable, but really outstanding in its quality.

Miss Nell Ruth Smith, soprano, has had extensive opera experience and important church appointments. For several seasons she was prima donna with the municipal opera companies in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Mr. Fred Hufschmidt, tenor of this company, is already a favorite with Chautauques. Great range and sweetness and a sympathy of tone are the marked qualities of his unusually fine voice. He has a record of successful concert and social engagements, and his work in the Colonial Operatic Company, one of the summer circuits was received with universal favor.

The pianist and accompanist who makes possible the excellent ensemble work of this group, is Miss Alice Wightman. Her sympathetic understanding and ability as a soloist round out the trio of artists.

MISS LINDSAY AND SULTAN

Here Is A Great Feature For The Children

An unequalled treat is in store for children of all ages on the last afternoon at Chautauqua when Miss Emma D. Lindsey will present "Sultan," the cleverest of trained ponies.

"Sultan" is as affectionate and intelligent as a four-footed friend as a lover of animals could desire. He is a pony with a thoughtful eye, a clever brain with an apparent sense of humor. The little hero, by paving the way, indicates correctly the solution of

of difficult problems in addition, and in this way answers other numerical questions put to him by his mistress. "Sultan" was trained, not under the sting of the whip, but through kindness and by the patient and careful treatment of his mistress, for whom he loves to work. He obeys her as an obedient child obeys its mother. (Children are advised to get a seat near the front for "Sultan's" program, indicates correctly the solution of

Three Valuable Observations.

"Life, health, happiness and success depend largely upon our ability to overthrow a fault, bridle a wrong inclination and overcome our own weakness." "Self is the one big enemy with which every one must deal hand to hand—it must be trained and disciplined to do the bidding of the intellect. Mind must rule matter in order for us to do anything worth while." "Self-denial and self-restraint are the foundation stones of real character."

Odd Experience.

This happened in England. We had moved into a new neighborhood. I took a walk. I hurried back because it began to get foggy. I became scared when the fog thickened and sat down on a doorstep and cried. The woman of the house took me in and I explained my predicament. I didn't know where I lived, so she took me to the police station when the fog lifted. My mother was already there and we were both overjoyed. When we all reached home we learned that it was in the next house to us I had been all the time.—Exchange.

Richness of Fabric
And Slenderness of Line Are the Keynote
Of Fall Dresses

In no period since the time of primitive man has fabric played a more important role in clothes. Lines are slender and tapering and slashes, slits and buttons are decorative purposes rather than for use. You should see these dresses in their many phases of smartness. They have the air of refinement and good taste that have characterized our dresses of previous seasons.

PASS OUT OF THE
the court don't hang them we will—K. K. K."This cryptic warning, propped up against a gawky skull
and bones was found by the
police last night on the veranda
of Frank Harris' home, in Ellis
avenue, just across the street
from the handsome home of the family of Richard A. Loeb, now on trial with Nathan Leopold
for murdering Bobby Franks.The skull and bones were not paper mache—they were real.
The symbol consisted of a leering
human skull, a pair of bleached arm bones and a leg.
Police removed the ghastly
symbols, which they said probably had been secured from
some medical college.By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)Chicago, Aug. 19.—The final rounds in the battle of the alienists over the mental condition of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, were fought out in Judge J. M. Caverly's court today.The jurist was forced to act as third
man in the legal ring and figuratively separate the combatants, so hot in the cross-examination through which the Leopold-Loeb lawyers are putting the last doctor for the state, Dr. William
O. Krohn.Perhaps late today, but more likely tomorrow, the long ending this three weeks' old fight of alienists will ring.
Then, unless the defense decides to
put on a few more witnesses in mitigation, both sides probably will rest
and there will begin nearly a week of oratory. The state's lawyers will demand the noose for the young slayers of Bobby Franks; the defense attorneys will plead the judicial mercy
and a life sentence.Mrs. Bowman Brown entertained at bridge Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Lloyd McDowell, who left yesterday for her new home at Reading,

Seriously Damaged In
An Attempted GetawayReykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 18.—The
two American army round-the-world fliers attempted this morning to take off on the long North Atlantic hop to Fredericksdal, near Cape Farewell,
East Greenland, and in doing so both planes were injured in perhaps the most serious mishap so far of the globe-encircling trip.One of the planes broke its spreading propeller.It is anticipated that the mishap
will delay the fliers some days as the cruiser Richmond, which is bringing
all the spare parts for the planes, will
not arrive here until Wednesday morning. It is hoped the repairs may be completed the same day.The accidents today were attributed to the fact that the planes were carrying the heaviest loads of petrol that
have been attempted since the start of the flight. Although the sea was dead calm the machines were unable to leave the water.

Reykjavik, Iceland Aug. 19. (INS.)

Repairs will be made tomorrow up-
on the damaged airplanes of Lieutenants
Lowell Smith and Erik Nelson, United States army, round-the-world aviators,
who hope to be able to hop off for
Cap Farewell, Greenland, Thursday
morning. Spare parts will be brought here upon the U. S. cruiser Richmond, due tomorrow.Because Angmagssalik was diminished as the next stopping place the
planes were loaded with an extra supply of gasoline to last them on their flight to the southern extremity of Greenland. This extreme weight caused the accidents.The machines will be strengthened to bear the extra burden.Lieut. Locatelli, Italian distance flyer, expects to accompany the Americans to Greenland.

BY DEMOCRATSBy THOMAS R. CURRAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 19.—Governor

Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, Democratic vice presidential nominee,
was in conference today with Cram Shaver, national chairman, engaged in
drawing up his speaking itinerary,
which is expected to include all of the states of the Middle West.Before a crowd that filled the huge University of Nebraska stadium, Governor Bryan last night received and
formally accepted the nomination of
his party as candidate for vice president.Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, tendered the nomination to the Nebraska governor. The dominant motif of Harrison's speech was that the Democratic party represents the only hope of the government element in America."The farmer needs an export marketing corporation or combination,"
was the way Bryan put it, "so that
his small surplus product which is sold
in the markets abroad will not establish the price of the whole crop he produces."That the Defense Day issue, which
he himself raised, will be heard from
in his ensuing speeches, was indicated
in his statement:"War propaganda, and mobilization demonstrations of the civil and industrial resources of the country when we are at peace with the world unnecessarily inflame the mind of the American youth."His treatment of the world court
and League of Nations questions will
be, it was indicated, much more summary than that of his running mate, John W. Davis."The only hope of the world is found in the substitution of machinery
for peace in place of machinery for
war," was his brief reference to these
topics.Dawes To Be Told Tonight

their Greensburg Concert at the Driv-

expenses to Greensburg are charging
fifty cents. The concert at Reading
last year was heard by 12,000 people.
The Greensburg Concert is better and
worth more than the admission asked.

helping.It doesn't seem exactly fair that we should allow the American Legion Post, which organized and maintained
the band, for quite a long time, to pay their expenses to Greensburg
when the whole community reaps the
benefit.After the concert, the Legion boys have arranged a dance for old and young. Every other number played during this dance will be an old-time dance. They have arranged this for the older people of the town and we cannot disappoint them.

After an argument which threatened to disrupt family
peace, the stock settled matters
for Arthur Doll's family. Mrs.
Doll, an ardent Republican insisted that their expected child
would be named after President Coolidge while the husband
equally favored naming him for

left, the family doctor said "its

bring together for a few hours four
of the nation's most prominent men.President Coolidge, seeking rest here in the home of his father, arranged

Reason For SkippingPittsburgh, Aug. 19.—The "mystery" of the disappearance of Alicia John Cooley, McKeesport "mystery
wife" who deserted her husband on a few days on their honeymoon in an Erie hotel July 28, is solved.Mrs. Cooley decided that she didn't love her husband, obtained a "lucrative position" for herself, and is on
her way to take it.Both her deserted husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tobin,
of Huey street, McKeesport, received letters from her yesterday in which
she tells them that "marriage without love is impossible" and begs them
to "call off the police."The mystery surrounding Mrs.
Cooley's disappearance was solved
yesterday when Cooley and Tobin
each received letters from Meadville signed by the bride and daughter stating that she would never again live
with Cooley.Mrs. Cooley requested that police authorities of Western Pennsylvania
who have been conducting a vigilante
search for her be "called off" as she is well and happy. The police will be asked to discontinue their search. It was said, but the private search for
Mrs. Cooley will be continued.Since the bride disappeared from an Erie hotel on July 29 private detectives and relatives aided by police authorities have investigated a score of theories concerning her whereabouts.

On Saturday, Aug. 16th, 1924 at 10:30 a. m. the Presbyterian Church
was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when Miss Dorothy
Belle Miller became the bride of Mr.
Lee Sencer. Dr. E. C. Reeve performed the ceremony.Miss Gertrude Miller, of Punxsutawney, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Kenneth Sencer, brother of the groom, was groom-smen. Only the immediate families and close friends attended the wedding.The bride was charming in her gown of brown crepe-back satin with hat and shoes to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of sunburst
crepe. She also wore roses.Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on the noon train
on a trip following which they will reside in Clearfield.Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fontenoy and family, drove up from their home at

Sane View Of Naming
Sept. 12th Defense DayHarrisburg, Pa., Aug. 19. (INS.)—
Making no mention of the civilian phase of National Defense Day, Gov.
Pinchot in a letter to Dr. Paul M.
Pearson, Director of Swarthmore
Chautauqua Association, today endorsed the plan to mobilize the United States for a day."There are two things about war,"
the letter says. "One is to prevent it from coming. The other is to be ready for it if unhappily it should come.""I believe in outlawing war, and in seeking by every means of public education and governmental action to
bring that great and most desirable
result about.""But war has not yet been outlawed.
It is still not only legal but one of the most stubborn of all facts. While
that remains true it would be worse
than folly for America to be wholly unprepared."Paralleling war to disease, the Governor points out that "we do not neglect to take precautions against
disease just because we abhor it.""Defense Day," the letter concludes
"is part of our preparation against
war.""We hate war and we prepare against
it. Why shouldn't we observe Sept.
12th as a day on which to make known to the people of the whole world that we love peace and hate
war?"No mention is made in the letter of enlisting civilians for a day. Orders have already been issued by the Governor for the National Guard to assemble on that day.A RALLY DAY IN

meeting opened at 10:30 in the fifth degree, with a brief business session.S. F. Lott of Brady Grange extended a cordial welcome to the visiting members of Pomona, while A. O.
Bilger, of Susquehanna Grange, responded.Report of subordinate granges were read and showed an increase in membership.The Deputies made reports and
urged that more interest and effort
be put into the work. Also Booster meetings are being planned for in some localities.E. H. Hannon, Secretary of the Fire Insurance Company, reported for
said company, showing it to be in excellent financial condition and carrying at present over $2,500,000 in assets.After the naming of committees
by the Master, adjourned for dinner
and all repaired to the dining hall
where all partook of a fine dinner prepared by the worthy sisters of the Brady Grange.It was so decided, that the afternoon and evening sessions be open to the public.Hon. P. H. Dewey, lecturer of Pennsylvania State Grange was introduced by State Deputy G. B.
Wachob, who was the main speaker
for the day, delivered messages that
were filled with inspiration and good counsel. He talked briefly on the importance of farmers carrying compensation, causality, automobile insurance.Other addresses were listened to
from M. I. McCright of DuBois, Hon.
Peter Gearhart and D. H. Watts.
"History of the Grange in Clearfield County," was presented by E. M.
Davis, he being one of the three surviving Charter Members of Pomona Grange.At 7:30 the members of Pomona
formed in parade headed by the Troutville Cornet Band was a pleasing feature of the day.In the evening, members of Brady Grange entertained the large crowd
of over 400 with a splendid program
consisting of monologues, comic reci-

Ordinance providing for the setting of curb and gutter and the paving of Cherry street were passed. According to the figures contained in the
paving ordinance the paving of the block from Second to Third street cost $3,254.71 exclusive of the curb and gutters. Of this cost the borough as-
remaining $2,169.71, is assessed
against the property owners at a cost of $2.71 per front foot.The curb and gutter cost 91 cents per front foot additional or a total cost of paving to each property owner, where curbs had not been set previously, of $3.82 per front foot.Extend Clearfield Street Sewer.

KERR ADDITION FIRE

The frame dwelling of Harry H.
Zeigler, of Kerr Addition, one of the extra help at the post office, was today destroyed by fire which had been covered about 1 o'clock this morning.
Mr. Zeigler and his family had been living in a tent on his lot for some time and had only recently moved into their newly completed home.The loss will amount to a couple of thousand dollars and is a severe
blow to Mr. Zeigler. There is no fire protection in Kerr Addition, and as it is across the river and out of reach of the local firemen, the fire quickly got
away from the efforts of the neighbors to extinguish it.

Atlantis is a continent mentioned in Plato's history,
and extended across the Atlantic Ocean approximately from Europe to Yucatan. It is the subject of an exhaustive volume by Ignatius Donnelly and has also served as inspiration for several novelists. This continent, it is believed, was the home of a great race
which conquered and civilized the world. The Azore Islands are considered to be the tops of its lofty mountains, and are all that now remains above water
of the great country.

By J. D. C.

More than 7,000,000 new voters, who have become of age since 1920, will be eligible to vote for the first time for President in 1924, according to the statistical report of Simon Michelet, Washington lawyer and political writer.

If those 7,000,000 are added to the war veterans and young men from the farms, who in 1920 were old enough to vote but had not yet established legal residence in their new city locations, there will be at least 8,000,000 potential first-time presidential voters in this campaign.

The basis for this estimate is the census of 1920, which shows 7,376,255 young men and women who at that time were, respectively, 17, 18, 19 and 20 years of age, and today, if living, are potential voters.

Some of these, it is true, may be foreign-born and not yet naturalized, but there is an offset for these in something like 600,000 foreign-born naturalized since 1923, who this year cast their first presidential vote. After all deductions are made on several counts, it is believed that the total number of new presidential voters will exceed rather than fall below the 7,376,000 shown by the census.

There has been a large colored movement from the South to the industrial districts of the North during the last four years, so that many colored voters will cast their first ballots this year in the north, where they will not be subjected to the strict literary tests of the Southern states.

The power of the new voters in pivotal states is a live subject. Indiana has nearly 200,000 young voters this year, while in the normal campaign years 1916 and 1920 the plurality of the successful presidential candidate was only 6,942 and 10,700 respectively.

Ohio has 374,000 new voters, about four times the average Ohio plurality; in fact, five times that of President Taft and President McKinley.

In New York the presidential margin averages around 150,000, although Grover Cleveland carried it over Blaine by only 1,000. New York has 660,000 young voters coming for the ballot, if they accept their sovereign privilege this year.

Massachusetts has not quite so large a crop of new presidential voters; and yet 239,000 margin would probably satisfy President Coolidge or either of his opponents in Bay State this year.

Pennsylvania frequently shows a presidential plurality of around 200,000. Just two-fifths of the 577,000 young presidential voters of that state make that plurality.

Illinois has 428,000 young voters, who, should they decide to vote en bloc, would overthrow even the 200,000 plurality which that state delivered at the polls.

Among the states of the Middle West, the young voters of 1924 show totals, as follows: Michigan, 235,000; Wisconsin, 184,000; Minnesota, 172,000; Iowa, 169,000; Nebraska, 94,000; the Dakotas, 46,000 each; Kansas, 127,000, and Missouri, 238,000.

These are states in which the third party movement is active. There are enough new voters in most of them to decide the issue. Will they be caught by the new propaganda for which the American institutions are a better cause for their ballot than some of the institutions advocated in political meetings?

California has 200,000 new presidential voters and Texas 282,000.

One of the interesting questions is: How many of the 2,500,000 new presidential voters of 16 southern states will actually vote? If 50 per cent of them voted they could change the political complexion even of the "solid" south.

The aggregate of 2,500,000 for the 16 states of the Middle West is particularly interesting study. What is the mind of young America in this national contest? Is the American Constitution good enough? That is one of the questions that will be answered November 4.

In addition to the 7,300,000 young voters, the stay-at-home army of 1920 is also to be heard from. So the national campaign in the 1924 campaign is not as an unknown quantity as them voted they could change the history of the country has never known.

LADIES' BAZAAR

Since this business started in 1917, our constant keeping in touch with the designers who are right up to the minute with the new things coming from Paris and Vienna, has brought the volume up to a point where we are a great factor in the women's wear in this entire section.

And, by knowing these things we are enabled to give the women of this city and vicinity better things to wear at prices that are distinctly lower than most stores in this vicinity.

The head of this business, a practical designer of women's clothing, is in constant touch with the style trends. This enables us to offer you the new things first and at a lower price than ordinary stores.

We specialize in wedding outfits, christening outfits and especially do we cater to the stout woman who finds it hard to get ready made clothing in which she looks her best.

A CITY OF UP-TO-DATE STORES WHERE

YOU GET THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY!

The Progressive Business Firms whose ads. appear on this page have combined in presenting a series of articles designed to show the most skeptical of persons that it is to their best advantage at all times to Trade in Clearfield. All of the firms here represented have your interests at heart as well as their own and we sincerely hope these articles may be the means of a better understanding between the merchants and the public.

"How can I help?" There is one sure way—spend your money with Clearfield concerns; do not let a dollar leave Clearfield that will purchase what you want from local concerns.

Does the average person realize what a calamity it would be were the Clearfield merchants to close their doors? It is to them largely that we owe the success of our city. What would Clearfield be today without her big, loyal and liberal merchants? About the only difference in the so-called dead town and a live town, is the amount of work done on community problems. The live town advertises itself to the nation by the things it accomplishes while the so-called dead town slumbers peacefully on and is not heard from.

Show your patriotism—for it is indeed a patriotic duty, this building of a better community spirit and as a consequence, a larger and more wholesome city. Be loyal to yourself and to your community. Be loyal to every enterprise in Clearfield. Your money spent with Clearfield merchants will help very materially to keep our city to the forefront as a commercial center. It will help to enlarge our prospects for a bigger and finer city.

A great new railroad system seems to be developing. But not really new. It is merely a new grouping of existing lines the Nickel Plate, Erie and others, with a total mileage of 1000 or more.

It is an interesting development in two respects. For one thing, it is evidence of a fresh, vital movement in American railroading, after a long period of quiescence. For another, it demonstrates a new railroad policy on the part of the government.

Not long ago, such a merger would have been fought in the courts as a combination in restraint of trade, and its dissolution would probably have been ordered. Now it is being effected under the explicit terms of the transportation act and with the consent and co-operation of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The government now encourages the consolidation of many small, weak railroad systems into a few large groups.

The old idea was universal competition, every railroad, large or small, fighting every other. The new idea is partial competition, with a few big systems competing with each other and the government standing over them to insure fair play to each other and to the public.

This is a compromise between competition and public control. Any lessening of competition in such a public utility is only tolerable, of course, with a proper measure of public control. It may be that the compromise is destined to lead gradually to complete abolishment of competition among the railroads, and their operation as one great system under the supervision of the government. That was tried in war time, and was not popular, but the trend seems in that direction.

THE UNIVERSAL BOB

Bobbed hair is the great leveller. It recognizes neither class nor age. The other day three generations of a family in Washington, D. C., had their hair bobbed. The abbreviating process started with the twenty-year-old daughter, continued with the fifty-year-old mother and ended with the eighty-year-old grandmother. It only stopped there because there wasn't any great-grandmother to shear.

Youth, as usual, protested against such radicalism on the part of age. But the grandmother insisted that she had just as good a right to be "comfortable" as her daughter and granddaughter, which was no more than the truth.

It does make confusion, in a way—this short hair, in combination with short skirts, regardless of age. Present styles abolish age in women. But what does it matter? A woman is as old as she feels, and occasional excess of youthful restoration is better than piling on exaggerated dignity.

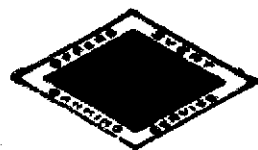

Moreover, any woman of 70 or 80 should be proud of bobbed hair, if for no other reason than that it shows she has the hair to bob. There is no deception about that style of hair-dressing.

IT'S ODD, BUT TRUE!

IN TRAINING

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Plump and smiling Mrs. Goodfriend says she is in training for a mother-in-law now that Bob and Alice are fast becoming more to each other than the "good pals" they have been for a year past.

Oh yes, she admits to her most intimate correspondent, Miss Lucy, there are some pretty trying things about breezy, bob-haired Alice—the short hair isn't one of them to be sure—but then there are many good points. "If I keep my mind fixed on them I hope to come out a pretty fair mother-in-law," says Mrs. Goodfriend. She would be greatly surprised and distressed if Miss Lucy, her life-long confidant, or any one else told her she was potentially a very bad mother-in-law in one respect. That she had been preparing trouble for Bob's wife all these years since his merry blue eyes first laughed into hers.

But it's true. "Here dear, let mother do that" is one of the things you hear her say oftener when her

big six-foot son is around.

Bob must have his second glass of milk and his favorite banana for breakfast if somebody has to scour the neighborhood at ten minutes notice.

Bob has never sewed on a button or washed a dish, unless maybe when he went camping and every fellow had to take his turn at "doing K. P." Bob has been waited on and catered to till it's a wonder the big jolly boy is so little spoiled. But his wife will expect the waiting on to be on the other side, if I know Alice and her type.

There will be times, too, when Bob will have to eat what is in the house if the milkman or the fruit seller fails to live up to what is expected of him or the ice gives out before it is expected to.

Of course, he and Alice will just have to learn that "give and take" is next to "bear and forbear" in the rules for newly weds. But Mrs. Goodfriend could have made it so much easier.

Use for Old Horseshoes.
At Trowbridge, England, may be seen an immense pile of old horseshoes which have been collected in small consignments from various blacksmiths. They weigh in the neighborhood of 120 tons, and sometimes the pile even exceeds this amount. These old horseshoes are particularly suitable for melting down for cutlery steel, the metal having been tempered to just the right hardness by the heat of the horses' hoofs and wear and tear of the roads.—Wide World Magazine

In the Courts

Judge Chase granted a rule returnable Monday, October 1st, on petition of Edith Long, who seeks to have determined the ownership of a strip of ground in Lawrence township which fronts 18 feet on a public road and extends back 29 rods. The land is claimed by the plaintiff under deed for 10 acres purchased from Lynn Thompson. Fred B. Ogden also claims the land and cites peaceable possession for more than 21 years.

Judge Chase decided at a habeas corpus hearing on Monday that jail was the proper place for Leonard Hollabaugh, alias James Russell, alias Harry Eock. Hollabaugh, who is said to have a wife and family in Huntingdon county, is alleged to have become intimate with a Cooper township girl of 18 living in Pittsburgh and when her parents learned of the man's actions, they had him arrested and placed in jail charged with adultery. He instituted habeas corpus proceedings in an attempt to effect his release from durance vile, but failed to score.

John Newcomer, who was arrested at Coalport, entered a plea of guilty to transporting and possessing liquor. He was given $100 fine and costs and six months in which to pay it.

Carl Arvieson, of DuBois, got a similar dose for possession and furnishing liquor.

Rex Wilson, a Decatur township boy, who forged a check, was paroled on his promise to do better in the future.

C. I. Weeks, who was in jail on a fraudulent check charge, was released at a habeas corpus hearing, when the district attorney agreed a prosecution could not be sustained.

George Ball, of Glen Hope, entered a plea of guilty to operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and transporting liquor. He was fined $100 and 10 days in jail, while an order was made directing the sheriff to sell the confiscated car.

John Dewie, of Coalport, entered a plea of guilty to making, selling and possession. He got $100 fine and costs and 4 months in jail.

Joe Kish, of Curwensville, on his plea of guilty, was fined $200 and costs and 10 days in jail for liquor law violation.

Generation of Crabs, Etc.

Crabs produce large quantities of eggs, which the female carries about with her attached to her hindmost pair of legs, until they hatch. The details vary much, of course, with the different kinds of crabs. The minute eggs (or spawn) of clams (those of salt water) are found out in early warm weather in great abundance, and at the same season the water near shore is filled with male sperm (milt). Thus by good luck a few eggs meet with the fertilizing particles. These soon "hatch" into a small larvae that swim about for a time, then settle down, acquire shells, and become baby clams, growing to full size and breeding condition in three or four years.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Everyone was surprised by the splendid attendance Sunday at both morning and Sunday School services in spite of the rainy weather.

Evening service held at the Presbyterian church was a particularly pleasant and helpful service.

On Tuesday evening of this week the Philadelphia Class meet at the church at 7:30. Hostesses for the evening Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Griffith, Miss Banta and Mrs. Cruthers.

Prayer service at the Church Wednesday at 7:30.

On Thursday the W. G. Girls go to a hike and all-day picnic. Meet at the home of Elizabeth and Naomi Richards on Williams Street, at 7:30 a. m. All members are to bring material for White Cross work.

Women's Missionary Society meet at the Church at 2:00 on Thursday.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

Sunday we welcomed the return of Dr. Reeve, who has been out of town for the past month. We were also glad to welcome the return of Dr. John M. Waddell who had part in the morning service. The text was taken from Paul's epistle to the Galatians 6:7. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked: whatever a man sows that shall he also reap." An increase in attendance was noticed in all the departments of the Sabbath School. The evening worship was rich in blessing for all, a powerful message in the sermon brought through Dr. Waddell, and also in the beautiful selections rendered by the choir.

Wednesday evening the mid-week prayer service at 7:30. Every one cordially invited to this service of prayer and praise.

Thursday afternoon the monthly meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society in the Church parlor.

Federal is being planned for the 22nd of this month by the Reedsville Ladies Aid. to be held in the Reedsville High House.

CHURCH PICNIC AT PARK

The congregation of St. Francis Church is enjoying a picnic at the Clearfield Driving Park today as guests of the Knights of Columbus and C. D. of A.

Really a Public Danger. A beautiful girl, who is both pretty and stylish. None who know her will dispute that she is a perfect little beauty. She says she wishes the young men on the street wouldn't stare at her, and the other girls tell her that she is conceited. She merely smiles at this, maintaining that she isn't. "I wish they wouldn't look at me," she declares, "at least not while they are driving high-powered cars. I have caused seven accidents."

TRINITY CHURCH ITEMS

Bible School was affected by the rain and a large number of vacation absences. Present 340, with offering $21.83. The music was under Walter Kennard's direction, with orchestra of which S. Keith Davis is director. Special interest in the lesson study was indicated by the attention of the classes.

The program of music was of a very high order in theme, and presented by the chorus and the soloists in unusual interpretation and strength. The "swan song" of Albert Kennard whose vacation closes today, came as a worthy ending of a very acceptable list of praise, in which the congregational singing was no insignificant part.

The morning sermon was an exposition of Psalm 90:2, "Before the mountains were brought forth, * * * Thou art God." It was an appeal for the deepening of the sense of God, personal, present, powerful, purifying. This offsets materialistic theories about the world and the race; it augments and dignifies the individual. It accelerates the conscience to compel action on the imperative things, not the utilitarian and the adroitly diplomatic; on the imperial things and not the trivial. It magnifies duty and expands faith. It brings to man the voice of God, coming to every one as it did to Abram, with its disturbing urge to leave plentifulness for a pilgrimage.

In the evening the pastor held a service at Mount Zion, attendance almost packed the room. After a stirring and hearty song service, the sermon came and then more singing. It was a goodly service.

This week's events: Women's Home Missionary meeting, Tuesday, 2:30, church, with Miss Shirey, deaconess from Detroit, Mich., and Miss Stewart returned from Hawaii, speaking; exceptional meeting planned. Wednesday night mid-week congregational meeting; 7:30. District Sunday School Convention, Central church, Friday—all day.

EAST END BAPTIST CHURCH

The East End Baptist congregation is engaged in a campaign to raise funds for the church. They report the following subscriptions to date, according to the return made by Rev. McDaniel, the pastor:

"Measuring of the bride" is a ceremony that follows every wedding in the town of Rogyeu, England. About 800 years ago the lord of the manor bequeathed £25,000, the interest from which was to be given to four brides of the place. Under the terms of the bequest the youngest, tallest, tallest and shortest brides are to divide the money. The records determine who the youngest and who is the oldest, and to decide the tallest and shortest, each bride must remove her shoes and lie down bare hair and be measured.

Sun God of Ancient Egyptians.
Owing to the prevailing solar influence, Egyptian temples, certainly in early times and often later, were oriented east and west so that the rising sun at the equinoxes might light up their dark interiors. Indeed, according to the current Egyptian conception it was the sun god before all others who dwelt in every temple, which was regarded as a small replica of heaven itself. Thus a favorite description of a temple is that it is "like heaven in its interior, while he (the sun-god) rises within it"—Dr. A. M. Blackman, in Nature.

Steps of national dimensions to curb the activities of radical elements who use an American method to public speeches were taken by members of the American Legion at Buffalo, N. Y., recently as the outcome of a crash between members of the Legion and Proletarian party orators.

As the climax of a series of un-American speeches of radicals in Lafayette square Legion men on the eve of Flag day put to rest a Proletarian speaker, who, standing in the shadow of a monument in memory of the nation's dead defenders, was hurling philippics against the nation, the flag and all "anti-Legion patriots."

The speaker, a Chicago man, took to his heels and sought refuge at the Proletarian headquarters. He attempted to obtain a passport against the Legionnaire who pushed him from his soap box, but the judge refused to issue one, stating that the man did his duty.

The Legion men then made an insistent demand to city officials that an end be brought to all public speeches, "such as are being vomited by Reds in Lafayette square, and such as would incite a riot by any group of patriotic men exposed to the spleen."

Both Mayor Schwab and Commissioner Meahl agreed to revoke permits of all radical parties that have been allowed to speak in public places, such as Lafayette square.

In commenting upon the action of the Legionnaires of Buffalo in dispersing the radical meeting, Garland W. Powell, national director, American Legion, said: "The action taken by patriots in Buffalo was not an official act of the American Legion. However, I am proud to state that no red-blooded American will allow any man to slander these men who sacrificed their all in defense of their country."

In this regard, the American Legion commission of the Legion has taken steps to preclude the unpatriotic activities of organizations advocating the repeal of all sedition and criminal syndicalist laws throughout the United States. These people are also advocating "free speech" speech of the kind that allows the advocacy of the overthrow of our government by force of arms, which means the overthrow of the government which guarantees free speech.

Police Chief Zimmerman of Buffalo stated the case of "free speech" when, as a reaction to the Lafayette square affair, he said: "It is all very well to talk about free speech but when speakers overstep the bounds they have got to be muzzled, with an iron hand if necessary."

The AMERICAN LEGION

With the dedication recently of the American Legion's children's billet at Otter Lake, Mich., the Legion has gotten under way with a nation-wide program of child welfare. Specifically, the Legion intends to care for all the children whose fathers were killed in action or who died as a result of service in the American forces during the World war.

There are at present, according to experts, 5,000 waifs of war who are being denied childhood privileges because their fathers died in service. By the creation of regional billets the Legion intends to care for all of these. The plan outlined by the national child welfare committee of the Legion allows for expansion to meet the requirements ten years hence, when the peak load will be reached—35,000 of them.

The billet at Otter Lake, Mich., is typical of the Legion's method of handling this important phase of service work. It is neither an institution nor an orphanage. It approximates a home as far as it is humanly possible.

Instead of having one big dormitory, the way most institutions are run, the Legion has small cottages of from four to six rooms. Nine children at the most are housed in one building, where they are looked after by a house mother. The children dress as other children, with no semblance of uniformity. They attend public school, leaving in the morning, taking their lunch, and returning about five o'clock in time to play until supper time.

The Otter Lake billet, which is the first regional billet, now cares for 29 children, with three houses built and ground broken for two more. These children are of every extraction—Hungarian, Polish, French, Italian and the like. Many of them came to the billet in extremely poor health, emaciated and undernourished.

Overlooking Otter Lake, one of the prettiest of Michigan's thousand lakes, the billet is ideal for health purposes and, under the guidance of Mrs. Eva Ingersoll, supervising mother, the food prepared is based on body-building needs. Dr. O. Johnson, the superintendent, looks after the health of the children and not one case of serious illness has been reported since the billet got under way.

The need for more room to handle the fatherless children is manifested by the constant requests for permission to send children to the billet. A waiting list ample in size has convinced the Legionnaires that they need more space. As fast as the money is available such expansion is taking place.

The Michigan billet was first begun as an activity of the Michigan department of the Legion, with help by the legislature. However, when the national organization of a Legion went into the problem, Michigan graciously turned over her billet to the national body.

The second child billet is now under way at Indian Springs, Kans. John R. Quinn, national commander of the Legion, recently dedicated a 400-acre tract of land, where the second series of cottages will be erected. Kansas raised $100,000 to insure completion of the project by a state-wide drive for funds. The tract of land was the gift of Daniel Dabney, whose two sons were killed in action while serving with the American forces in France.

Not only does the Legion care for children in regional billets

J. W. Sykes and family went to Lock Haven yesterday to attend the funeral of Mrs. C. E. Slifer, mother of Mrs. Sykes. The old lady whose age was 82 years, died last Friday in Washington, D. C., and the body was brought to Lock Haven for burial.

Next Sunday the members of Illini Tribe, Red Men, of this place will go to Glen Richey and listen to a sermon appropriate to their organization to be preached by Rev. Peters, a life-long member of the Order of Red Men, he having joined when there was something doing during the initiatory work.

Mrs. Frank L. Arnold went to Philadelphia yesterday where she will remain for several days and then go to Philadelphia for more than a week's visit with relatives and old time school friends.

Mrs. Joseph Whitaker who has been suffering for some weeks by swollen limbs has so far recovered as to be able to walk about a few steps at a time with some one supporting her.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams and son of Wilmington, Del., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Twigg, Sr. on Bloomingtown Ave., for the time being.

Miss Margaret Kelly, a daughter of Lavette Kelly, Bloomingtown Ave., who has been attending the Indiana Normal during the summer term, is home having finished the school course.

Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Fullerton, who resides on Bloomingtown Avenue, are off for a week's vacation trip, their many taking them to call on friends in Pittsburg and Ohio. It is not often that "Pat" takes a notion to leave his hearth and home for any length of time.

Miss Grace Barthol and Ina Twigg who spent all of last week with Mr. and Mrs. A. McNaull, State Street, returned yesterday to their respective homes in Philipsburg.

Mrs. G. F. Johnson of Philadelphia came in last evening for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. McNaull, having been brought over the mountain from Tyronne by Mr. McNaull in an auto.

Miss Mary Shearer, daughter of

John Shearer, Susquehanna Ave., who went to California last April arrived at her home on Sunday evening. Having secured a position she will remain in Curwensville for some time at least.

Rev. C. E. Boone has been engaged to conduct a series of evangelical services in the Locust Ridge school house. His first meeting was held on Sunday evening and was attended by a large crowd of people from near that section.

The Yellow Dog meeting at the Park promises to be the captain of all the meetings yet held since the organization of that body. If all the applicants for membership are present the number will reach several hundred. At this meeting it will be determined whether it is advisable for having a big street parade. On Wednesday evening a pack of Curwensville hounds will cross the mountains and round up a batch of mongrels who are running at large on the streets and byways of that city of the ninth class.

The B. R. & P. Railroad Company has removed their freight office from the "hog hole" down in the swamp to a small building adjacent to the passenger station, adjusting the business so that the station agent can take care of both passenger and freight. The change is one that will be approved by the patrons of that road.

Henry Heitzenrath and family were out Narrows Creek way Sunday assisting in the celebration of his oldest sister's birthday. Not a few members of the connection were also there and partook of a generous luncheon, in consequence of which Henry was quite doozy yesterday. Not being a preacher he ate too much chicken.

A hearing has been arranged for Monday, August 25th to determine the ownership of a portion of the old pike known as the Cream Hill turnpike. The supervisors allege that the road does not belong to either Pike or Bloom township highway systems, but is owned by the county by purchase from parties who controlled and collected toll on that strip of road for years. The supervisors on this allegation have refused for several years to work the road or make any repairs, hence the highway has become in such a condition that people and taxpayers along the route have become

Wilson Maneval has purchased a strip of land fronting on Meadow street and rear of the Central hotel from whom he made the purchase, which also includes the large frame barn used by the hotel. Mr. Maneval contemplates remodeling the building and converting it into a storage garage for cars during the winter months. The purchase is a valuable one, having an outlet on both Meadow and State streets. The purchase price runs up into the three figure column.

Derivation of "Motor."
Whenever the human mind and enterprise conquer a new fact, the text-con follows closely in the rear to give that fact a name. In case of the motor, as known to mechanical engineering the word already existed. It was merely applied to the new fact. "Motor" is a derivative of the Latin verb "moveo," to move. Its application to an engine operated by electricity, or by gasolene, to make a car or a train, or a boat move is logical. Back of this application however, is the use of the word "motor" to designate the person the power, or the thing that makes objects to move, whether it is a man, a current of water, a jet of steam—in short the prime mover that makes machinery "go."

No sensible person will continue to suffer from dangerous swollen veins or bunches when the new powerful, yet harmless germicide called Emerald Oil can readily be obtained at any well stocked drug store.

Ask for a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse substitutes. Use as directed and in a few days improvement will be noticed, then continue until the swollen veins are reduced to normal. It is guaranteed and is so powerful that it also reduces enlarged glands, goiters and wens.

Births

On Monday morning the latest man in town, Ward Spence, heard a small voice calling "Daddy," the voice being that of Baby Spence. Both mother and son are getting along fine at the Clearfield Hospital.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Minette of West Front street on Sunday, a son. Mother and baby are getting along fine.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George McKee on August 17th, a fine big girl baby. Mother and babe getting along fine.

A Fish Story.
A couple of city chaps summing up the mountain overheard sufficient fish stories to stir them to the desire to emulate the native anglers. Not having equipment they persuaded the village storekeeper to lend them some of his own personal outfit with the understanding that any parts lost or broken would be paid for or replaced. They had been out on the lake in a boat about half an hour when one of them inquired of the other: "What do you suppose Extra Hawkins calls that red-and-blue thing that floats around on the water?" "Why, I believe he calls it a float or a floater or a bob or something of that nature. What made you ask such a question?" "Well, we'll have to buy one of those. The darn thing has sunk."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Chance to Make Good

Music as a Cello Cure.
If the baby cries in the middle of the night, don't pick it up and start walking the floor. Simply have a record handy and start the phonograph. A young father in New York recently was waiting the floor with his four-months old daughter, who had the colic and didn't care who knew it. His next-door neighbor was awakened and to drown the noise started his phonograph. The baby heard the music and stopped crying. The father then started his own machine to play a record but this had no effect. It substituted a mournful record and it worked like magic. The baby, bored off with a cheery smile on its features. He now recommends classical music as a cello cure.

They Learn by Reading.
It is true that there are no better ways of learning anything than by reading. In teaching what we know of a subject to others, in distant Liberia, a school in western Africa, the school has adopted the same plan. Just as soon as any student has mastered the rudiments of old class he begins imparting his knowledge to others. In fact, he is taught mostly by those who have just finished the class above him. Although this system has its disadvantages, according to American standards, it certainly helps the young teachers themselves, as regulation instructors are not easily obtained. So eager are the children for instruction that many of them walk eight miles to a school through swamps and over poor roads.

Is there anybody who would not like to attend a program of the most delightful vocal music—a beautiful solo, maybe, or a pleasant duet? Such is the program rendered by the Swarthmore Trio on the second afternoon of the coming Chautauqua program. Few organizations combine in themselves as much artistic talent as is found in this company. Few programs offer such snap, such originality, such a varied and ever-changing succession of melody and entertainment.

The members of this company have been chosen among those who have made conspicuous success during past seasons with the Swarthmore Chautauques, and are certain to be of the calibre to make the music of the second day of the coming Chautauqua not only acceptable, but really outstanding in its quality.

Miss Nell Ruth Smith, soprano, has had extensive opera experience and important church appointments. For several seasons she was prima donna with the municipal opera companies in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Mr. Fred Hufschmidt, tenor of this company, is already a favorite with Chautauqua. Great range and sweetness and a sympathy of tone are the marked qualities of his unusually fine voice. He has a record of successful concert and social engagements, and his work in the Colonial Operatic Company, one of the summer circuits was received with universal favor.

The pianist and accompanist who makes possible the excellent ensemble work of this group, is Miss Alice Wightman. Her sympathetic understanding and ability as a soloist round out the trio of artists.

An unequalled treat is in store for children of all ages on the last afternoon at Chautauqua when Miss Emma D. Lindsey will present "Sultan," the cleverest of trained ponies. "Sultan" is as affectionate and intelligent as a four-footed friend as a lover of animals could desire. He is a pony with a thoughtful eye, a clever brain with an apparent sense of humor. The little hero, by paving the way, indicates correctly the solution of many of the difficult problems in addition, in this way answers other numerical questions put to him by his mistress. "Sultan" was trained, not under the sting of the whip, but through kindness and by the patient and careful treatment of his mistress, for whom he loves to work. He obeys her as an obedient child obeys its mother. (Children are advised to get a seat near the front for "Sultan's" program, indicates correctly the solution of many of the difficult problems in addition, in this way answers other numerical questions put to him by his mistress.

Comrades Bob Herber, and "Foxy" Barton hit the long, long trail a-riding for Greensburg today, being the scouting or reconnoitering party or advance guard of John Stude Post of the American Legion, the members of which expect to capture many of the best prizes offered at the State Legion Convention this week.

Three Valuable Observations.

"Life, health, happiness and success depend largely upon our ability to overthrow a fault, bridle a wrong inclination and overcome our own weakness." "Self is the one big enemy with which every one must deal hand to hand—it must be trained and disciplined to do the bidding of the intellect. Mind must rule matter in order for us to do anything worth while." "Self-denial and self-restraint are the foundation stones of real character."

Odd Experience.

This happened in England. We had moved into a new neighborhood. I took a walk. I hurried back because it began to get foggy. I became scared when the fog thickened and sat down on a doorstep and cried. The woman of the house took me in and I explained my predicament. I didn't know where I lived, so she took me to the police station when the fog lifted. My mother was already there and we were both overjoyed. When we all reached home we learned that it was in the next house to us I had been all the time.—Exchange.
